What is art therapy?

---

> About art therapy.

Art therapy is a mental health profession that uses the art making process to improve physical, mental, and emotional well-being.

> Who we serve.

Art therapists work in a variety of settings including hospitals, mental health facilities, treatment centers, homeless shelters, schools, correctional facilities and private practice.

> Education & credentials.

The Art Therapy Credentials Board (ATCB) oversees credentialing and ensures appropriate training, experience and supervision. The credential letters ATR mean that an individual is a Registered Art Therapist and ATR-BC signifies a Board Certified Art Therapist.
